BORN: BOSCAWEN, N.H. 1913

This week the New England Real Estate Journal became fed up with the male faces which appear by two's in this section, week after week---we therefore placed the following credentials in our IBM Buda Machine: Seeking female, young, attractive New Hampshire Realtor with interesting background and active future. The machine responded with the name Carol H. Foster.

Leaving school in the early 30's to help run the family mill, Carol was married in 1936, moving to Cape Cod during WWII. With four brothers and a husband in the service, Carol became active in nursing, photography and scouting. She did work for the Hearst Papers, Life Magazine and the Cape Cod newspaper. With this, and raising two sons, in 1945, Carol was invited to become a Counteresp. "I spent two years being indoctrinated by the Communist Party and then served in New Hampshire for 13 years. Like Herb Pillsbury, I received no pay and for the entire period, only my family knew what I was actually doing."

In 1960, the Foster family moved to Bennington Vermont, where Carol joined Edward Hawks real estate office. In the first 18 months she sold 30 properties and upon returning to New Hampshire, she decided that real estate had a definite place for her talents. Carol and Mary Vickery opened an office in Amherst which covers the triangle between Manchester, Nashua and Peterborough. The Realtor grandmother feels that she is just moving into the most exciting and productive and diversified life. "Mary and I handle all kinds of listings and this year we are already ahead of our sales of last."

A member of the Professional Photographers Asson., Carol is also membership chairman of her Realtor Board.
