F&G managing director Casimir Groblewski said, "We were pleased to be able to respond to our client's refinancing requirements given the turmoil that continues to occur in the financial world. Because of the successful history of the property, as well as the experienced and effective ownership, the lender, a major life insurance company with a securitization program, responded to our request with a favorable loan structure. In the face of difficult market conditions, all parties worked diligently to meet closing requirements."
