Boyle joins C.E. Floyd Co. as senior project manager

December 16, 2009 - Construction Design & Engineering

Kevin Boyle has joined C.E. Floyd Company as a senior project manager. Boyle has 22 years of experience working in the biotech, commercial, educational and healthcare sectors, and spent the last 16 years with FIP Construction.

C.E. Floyd's vice president of Conn. operations Charles Tobin said, "Bringing Kevin on board strengthens our commitment to provide the best service to our Conn. clients and our position in the educational marketplace where we have a tremendous Mass. portfolio. His experience in the biotech, commercial and healthcare sectors, along with 22 years of Conn. subcontractor and vendor knowledge will be a great asset."

Tobin also believes Boyle will be a valuable resource for C.E. Floyd's younger employees because of Boyle's deep field and office experience.

C.E. Floyd's current Connecticut work includes projects at the Country Club of Fairfield with James G. Rogers Architects, StoneRidge, a Life Care Services Community in Mystic and Byrant University in Smithfield, R.I with CUBE 3 Studio.

C.E. Floyd Company is located in Massachusetts and Connecticut and provides preconstruction, general contracting, construction management and design/build services in the biotech, commercial, educational, hospitality, religious and senior housing sectors. They are members of both the Associated General Contractors and Associated Builders and Contractors.
