Promote your commercial real estate events on ReJournal.com

November 26, 2007 - Front Section

ReJournal.com, the Northeast's #1 commercial real estate website is pleased to welcome the addition of an event calendar to our website. Dedicated to the commercial real estate industry, the event calendar will provide useful information about upcoming commercial real estate events to the users and visitors of our website. The event calendar is a valuable resource for commercial real estate professionals who want to stay informed of all the current events going on in the industry and a great way for companies, associations and organizations to "spread the word" about their upcoming events.

You may submit your events to dscott@rejournal.com for review and will be notified via email when your event has been posted to the calendar. Please provide the event title, type of event, time and date; a short description about the event, the location and contact information, i.e. website, email address, phone number etc. please submit your event at least one month in advance (preferably three months) in order to gain maximum exposure of the event.

We encourage you to use the event calendar, because it is a great way of promoting your events free of charge, at absolutely no cost to you. All we ask is that the submitted event be relevant to the commercial real estate industry and professional in nature. Soon, with the addition of the 'Members' section currently being developed for our website, you will be able to post your events directly to the event calendar, but for now please submit them to the aforementioned email address.
