Lo and Mattingly of Allegro Interior Architecture earn LEED accreditation

March 24, 2010 - Green Buildings

Li-chu Lo and Monica Mattingly of Allegro Interior Architecture have earned LEED accreditation. This makes 80% of Alegro IA's staff LEED accredited.

"Knowledge of green building practices is a benefit to all of our clients whether it's their top priority or not," said managing partner and founder, Jeanne Kopacz, IIDA, ASID, LEED AP.

Allegro IA specializes in interior design solutions for corporate, hospitality, and academic clients. Services include space analysis; furniture and finishes specification; construction and LEED documentation, administration and code investigation.

Allegro IA recent projects include Bentley Motors' North American headquarters in Copley Sq., Arrowstreet Capital, L.P. headquarters in the John Hancock Tower, Alcatel-Lucent in the Financial District, and Zachariah's Restaurant in Norwood.
