April 13, 2010 - Connecticut

The Institute of Real Estate Management (IREM) will sponsor an, interactive Executive Exchange for professionals in the real estate management industry from Wednesday, June 9 through Friday, June 11, at the Hotel Conrad located right on the area's Magnificent Mile. The power-packed three-day event includes two, back-to-back professional development seminars as well as ample opportunities for knowledge sharing and networking with executive peers.

Today's Leadership Challenges (HRS603), scheduled for June 9, will:

- * Identify qualities of successful leaders and assess participants' strengths and areas for improvement
- * Explore leadership methods in the areas of communication, experience and knowledge, ethical values, and energy and passion
- * Discuss common situations - including substance abuse, harassment, and negative employees - that can challenge even the most experienced leaders in real estate management.

Growth Strategies for Real Estate Management Companies (BDM601), scheduled for June 10 and 11, will show participants how to:

- * Examine their respective companies' strengths and weaknesses and discover ways to incorporate those strengths into a business plan
- * Identify opportunities to enhance income streams within their current portfolio as well as ways to generate new revenue
- * Explore long-term marketing tactics that can build a company's reputation and position it for ongoing success
- * Obtain new management business by analyzing a request for proposal (RFP), reviewing proven-successful proposal techniques, and delivering an effective presentation to a prospective client through a series of interactive learning activities.

Both sessions will be facilitated by Stephen Cary, CPM, a senior-level real estate management executive and a long-time member of the IREM faculty. Each session counts toward the education requirement for IREM's Accredited Management Organization (AMO) accreditation.
