Slattery, Danais, DiNapoli and Pereira honored by NH CIBOR

June 03, 2010 - Northern New England

The New Hampshire Commercial Investment Board of Realtors (NH CIBOR) recently recognized four of their members as NHAR Honor Society Recipients. The announcement was made on April 30 at the quarterly membership meeting.

The NH Realtor Honor Society program is designed for both the newer Realtors as well as those who have held membership in the NH Association of Realtors for a number of years - it is intended to recognize those members who seek education and participate in Realtor functions and civic activities.

Recipients of the awards were: Arthur Slattery, 2010 president of NH CIBOR and lifetime member of the NHAR Honor Society. Slattery was recognized for his 21st year as a recipient of the Honor Society Award; Richard Danais of Danais Realty Group who was recognized as the recipient with the highest points for NH CIBOR. This is Danais' 4th consecutive year of receiving the Honor Society Award; John DiNapoli of John DiNapoli, Broker who received his 12th award as an Honor Society Member; and Jim Pereira of Martini Northern who was awarded for his 3rd year as a member of the Affiliate Honor Society.

The primary purpose of the NH Realtor Honor Society is to encourage board participation among members in order that they might be better educated, active members to serve their customers/clients and in return bring credit to themselves and the real estate industry.

NH CIBOR recognizes the commitment each of these members has made to the organization and congratulates them for being honored with the NHAR Honor Society Award.
