New Hands-On Demo Stage for 2011 trade show

June 25, 2010 - Green Buildings

We've heard your requests for an enhanced Trade Show experience! One idea already in the works is a hands-on demo stage where some of our energy retrofit experts can show you exactly how they install their favorite products and technologies. We'll also profile some high-performance solutions used in the rigorous case studies presented in the conference sessions. Ideally, the companies offering these products and technologies will have booths on the Trade Show floor so that you can learn more about them. Stay tuned for more on the enhanced the Trade Show experience....
