Duffy of Prudential Verani and Jean of Fulcrum honored by NH CIBOR

August 05, 2010 - Northern New England

The New Hampshire Commercial Investment Board of Realtors (NH CIBOR) held its annual barbeque at TF Moran.

An important part of this annual gathering is the naming of the CIBOR Realtor of the Year and the CIBOR Affiliate of the Year.

Congratulations to Tom Duffy of Prudential Verani Realty - 2010 Commercial Realtor of the Year and to Bill Jean of Fulcrum Associates - 2010 Affiliate of the Year.

Duffy has served and continues to serve in many capacities of NH CIBOR. He is a current director, was our president during a transition period when many challenges surfaced. Duffy fell back on his strong management skills and brought about changes that allowed us to move forward and offer greater services to our members. These changes did not come easily and his personal sacrifices were many. Congratulations to Duffy for his award and we look forward to him representing CIBOR at the NH Association of Realtors Awards Banquet in the fall.

Jean continues to be one of our go to members when it comes to affiliate activities. An active member of our NH CIBOR board of directors, he can be expected to provide his fellow members with insight supported by his vast experience in the world of architecture and commercial development. Green, a term that is beginning to have meaning in New Hampshire is a part of our members' vocabulary as a result of Jean and the green committee. A strong believer in education, he has worked with the education committee to assure that our members are receiving exposure into emerging trends and technologies.
