Boston Private Bank & Trust Co. hires McNally as vice president

December 13, 2007 - Financial Digest

Boston Private Bank & Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of Boston Private Financial Holdings, Inc. has appointed John McNally to vice president of residential mortgages for the bank's Lexington office.

In this position, McNally will be responsible for servicing clients' residential mortgage needs while building relationships with realtors, CPAs, attorneys and other referral sources. McNally will work closely with homebuyers - guiding them from start to finish through the steps of purchasing a home. With more than 23 years of experience in the mortgage industry, McNally will assist Boston Private Bank in continuing to develop new relationships in Concord and Lexington, while helping to build a strong connection with the local community.
