Five new tenants at WS Development's Chestnut Hill Shopping Center

August 25, 2010 - Retail

Several new retailers have joined Chestnut Hill Shopping Center according to WS Development, the center's owner and developer. The new tenants are:

- * Angora Ice - 413 s/f shop will offer yogurt, smoothies and other sweet treats.
- * Comella's - 1,027 s/f Italian dining establishment will open in early fall.
- * EyeSpot - 1,554 s/f space will offer patients access to all three forms of eye care, including an optician, optometrist and ophthalmologist.
- * Urban Grape - 2,487 s/f wine, beer, spirits, sake store.
- * AT&T - 2,784 s/f store.

All of the new retailers are located in space adjacent to Star Market, which re-opened in a new building last fall. As part of the new building construction, more than 5,500 s/f of additional retail space was created.

"These new dining and service options are the perfect complement to Star Market section of the center, creating a convenient hub of activity for Chestnut Hill shoppers," said David Fleming, director of corporate marketing for WS Development.
