Keating joins Consigli Construction

August 25, 2010 - Green Buildings

Patrick Keating LEED AP has joined Consigli Construction Co., Inc.'s project management team.

"Keating's exceptionally broad range of experience in design/build, construction management, general contracting, and architectural engineering will expand our ability to provide the most comprehensive and focused construction management services in the marketplace," said Matthew Tonello, area manager for Consigli's Maine office. "With 22 years in the construction industry, Keating will bring strength and depth of experience to Consigli for a variety of projects in the federal, academic, healthcare, and institutional sectors."

Currently, Keating is serving as project manager for the phased renovation of the Margaret Chase Smith Federal Building for the U.S. General Services Administration in Bangor.
