Design and construction professionals volunteer for Bella Tucker project

September 02, 2010 - Northern New England

A large contingency of professionals from the design and construction industry have donated their time to assist with a 2,500 s/f addition/renovation for 8-year old Bella Tucker and her family's home. Bella is a quadruple amputee due to a recent near fatal infection, Streptococcus Pneumonia Sepsis with Disseminated Intravascular Coagulation.

The volunteers include: neighbors Tammy Kozlowski, Lisa and Derek Felix, Amee McNamara of Blackdog Builders, civil engineer Jen Hamwey, Mike Guilmet of Allen & Major Associates, Inc., Keith Boyle and Nik Middleton of CUBE 3 Studio Architects and Tony Nigro of Suffolk Construction.

The town of Londonderry has been a full partner from day one and has assisted in accelerating the project and clearing any potential obstacles that may arise.

The Berry Fund, visit www.berryfund.org, a local non-profit organization has been a resource for the project.

For more information or to assist visit Bella's website www.bellatucker.org.
