September 15, 2010 - Construction Design & Engineering

EMCOR Group, Inc.'s Tucker Mechanical subsidiary has been awarded a contract for the installation of mechanical systems at the Westfield Trumbull Mall.

Tucker Mechanical will be responsible for the installation of a complete chilled water system to replace the existing direct expansion cooling system. The project includes a new chilled water plant including three centrifugal chillers, cooling towers, associated pumping and ancillary equipment, and a mall-wide chilled water distribution piping system of approximately 12,000 feet with outlets to serve both the base mall equipment and tenants.

Tucker Mechanical will also replace 18 base HVAC direct expansion rooftop units, which range from 10 to 40 tons, with chilled-water cooled units.

Westfield Group is one of the world's largest publicly listed retail property groups by equity market capitalization and has a global portfolio of 119 high quality regional shopping centers (with approximately 23,700 retailers) in Australia, New Zealand, the United States and United Kingdom.

"We're pleased to have been selected by the Westfield Group to work on this project at the Westfield Trumbull Mall," said Robert Turner, president and CEO of Tucker Mechanical. "Tucker is a well established and recognized leader delivering high quality mechanical construction services for clients across diverse industries, and nothing is more gratifying than knowing we will be satisfying both our client and its customers."
