Van Middlesworth joins Jung|Brannen

September 15, 2010 - Construction Design & Engineering

Vera Van Middlesworth has joined TRO Jung|Brannen as an associate. She will serve as project executive for the firm's healthcare clients.

Van Middlesworth has over 25 years of experience in the New England area, focusing primarily on design for health care facilities. In addition to her design work on projects, Vera will also be focusing on the expansion of TRO Jung|Brannen's business in the healthcare sector.

Prior to joining TRO Jung|Brannen, Vera was associate principal with Anshen & Allen Architects in their Boston office where she actively led all aspects of project design and client development. Recent projects include Care New England's Data Center Building on the Kent Hospital campus and a 140,000 s/f clinical addition at Women and Infants Hospital.

"Vera brings a depth of healthcare experience to TRO Jung|Brannen, particularly in the pediatrics, women's services and public sector, " said Mark Jussaume, COO of TRO Jung|Brannen.
