March 17, 2011 - Construction Design & Engineering

ASM will host the Biennial Dinner Gala on April 5 at The Museum of Fine Arts - one of Boston's most elegant and cultural settings. Guests will enjoy a cocktail reception, the distinctive and soothing sounds of live jazz music, culminating with an exclusive viewing of the all new "Art of the Americas" galleries.

Attendees will hear a few words from past president, Sara Stafford regarding ASM achievements over the past two years as well as formal introductions of ASM's new president, David Cannistraro, and the new board of directors. This will be a wonderful opportunity for members and guests to mingle with the new board members, friends and colleagues amid magnificent artistry.

ASM will proudly present distinguished guest and honoree, Edwin Fremder, with the 2011 Joseph Corwin Lifetime Achievement Award. Ed served as counsel to ASM for fifteen years and played a key role in ASM's legislative success.

In addition to the evening's festivities, ASM has created several outstanding sponsorship packages designed to showcase member companies throughout the evening, including coverage in the large screen Biennial slide show presentation and recognition in ASM's digital and print publications.
