Sloan, Tiernan and Weidman named assoc. at JSA

April 03, 2011 - Northern New England

JSA Inc. has named Caleb Sloan, AIA, LEED AP; Kristopher Tiernan, AIA, LEED AP; and Anne Weidman, NCIDQ, as associates of the firm.

A healthcare leader at JSA, Sloan has overseen more than $30 million in healthcare projects for the firm, including the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Salt Lake City, as well as numerous medical office buildings and projects at both Portsmouth Regional and Exeter Hospitals on the seacoast. He currently serves on the board of directors of AIA N.H.

Tiernan has been intimately involved in the planning and construction of senior living communities throughout New England for well over a decade. His RiverWoods at Exeter project won national acclaim for planning, and will be included in the upcoming AIA Design for Aging Review publication. In Portsmouth, Tiernan managed the renovation of the Mark Wentworth Home.

As marketing manager, Weidman manages public relations, market research, proposal and interview preparation, and graphic design for the firm. In 2010, her collateral materials won the SMPS Maine Beacon Award for Excellence in Marketing Communications. She has degrees in marketing and interior design from Indiana University of Penn., is certified by NCIDQ, the National Council for Interior Design Qualification, and is the incoming president of the Maine chapter of the SMPS.
