The Torrey Company is widely recognized as a leader in retail and commercial construction

April 21, 2011 - Retail

The first quarter of 2011 finds The Torrey Company very optimistic about its future, following 2010, the year The Torrey Company celebrated its 25th year anniversary. 2010 will pass into history as one that greatly tested the resiliency of the American economy; a year that started for many without a backlog, and also ushered the lamentable loss of Peter Androski, The Torrey Company's founder, who died unexpectedly on January 3, 2010. Subsequent to his death, they continued operations, after a quick reorganization, under the same name, succeeding in serving their clients in a seamless and imperceptible transition. Their recovery throughout 2010 was slow but positive, thanks to the successful array of projects they were able to perform for well established companies and developers in the New England area; counting among their clients, Lowe's (Lowell, Mass. and Hadley, Mass.), Stop & Shop Supermarkets (Fairhaven, Mass. and N. Smithfield, R.I.), Arista Development (Walgreens, Pelham, N.H. and Walgreens, Mashpee, Mass.), BJ's Wholesale Clubs (Hudson/Berlin, Mass.), W/S Development (Charles River Plaza and Mansfield Crossings), Dick's Sporting Goods (Williston, Vt. and Danvers, Mass.) and Hannaford's Supermarkets (West Peabody, Mass.), among others. By the time 2010 ended, The Torrey Company once again had a backlog and could count on significant projects such as Hannaford Supermarkets in Manchester, N.H.; BJ's Wholesale Club in Pittsfield, Mass. (Saxon Partners); Walgreens, Dartmouth (Arista Development); and Bedford Mall Improvements Remodel (Gateway Van Buren, Inc.) a project that included a complete Staples store with a March 15, 2011 turn over date, among others.

Among the projects presently under construction, The Torrey Company is happy to report the following:

- * Michaels, Lisbon, Conn.
- * Dick's, Lisbon, Conn.
- * Walgreens, Dartmouth, Mass.
- * Bedford Mall, Bedford, N.H.
- * BJ's, Pittsfield, Mass.
- * Hannaford, Manchester, N.H.

With a focus on commercial and industrial clients, their diverse range of projects include shopping centers, department stores, pharmacies, supermarkets, R&D facilities, food processing/freezer plants, corporate centers and much more.
