St. Clair of Jones Lang LaSalle named chair of the Urban Land Institute's Boston District Council

August 25, 2011 - Front Section

Jones Lang LaSalle (JLL) managing director Daniel St. Clair has been named chair of the Urban Land Institute's Boston District Council (ULI Boston). He has served as vice chair since 2009. ULI Boston, a 1,100 member professional organization, serves the six New England states and provides leadership in the responsible use of land and in creating sustaining and thriving communities.

St. Clair is a managing director in Spaulding & Slye Investments, a division of JLL with over $800 million in co-investment assets, where he focuses on new development, acquisitions and third-party asset management. He has more than 21 years of investment, development, planning, design, construction and project management experience in Boston, Cambridge, Greater Boston, and other major urban U.S. markets. His expertise includes the development, investment sales, and repositioning of distressed real estate assets.

"Daniel has a terrific background both in the development/transaction side of our business, and in the leadership of ULI Boston over the past decade," said Stephanie Wasser, executive director of the ULI Boston.

"We're very excited about his ability to increase ULI Boston's visibility as the convener and thought leader of the real estate industry in Boston and New England."

St. Clair's current and recent projects include: the redevelopment of the USPS property adjacent to South Station; asset management of Xanadu Meadowlands in East Rutherford, N.J.; advising Proctor & Gamble on its interests in the Gillette Shaving Headquarters campus on Fort Point Channel Boston; redevelopment and sale of Atlantic Wharf (formerly Russia Wharf) in Boston; planning and permitting development at Fan Pier in Boston; the Cambridge Science Center; and 830 Winter Street in Waltham, MA.

According to Fred Kramer, the former Chair of ULI's Boston District Council and President of ADD Inc: "We are thrilled to have Daniel as our new District Council Chair. His long-time commitment to ULI has been visible and productive. His real estate background and passion for the organization will continue to serve us well as we continue to evolution."

About the Urban Land Institute

The Urban Land Institute (ULI) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit research and education organization supported by more than 40,000 members worldwide representing the entire spectrum of land use and real estate development disciplines. ULI's mission is to provide leadership in the responsible use of land, and in creating and sustaining thriving communities worldwide.

As the preeminent, multidisciplinary real estate forum, ULI facilitates the open exchange of ideas, information and experience among local, national and international industry leaders and policy makers dedicated to creating better places.

ULI's Boston District Council (ULI Boston) serves more than 1,100 ULI members in the six New England states and represents one of the Institute's five largest District Councils in the United States. It offers over 40 high-quality programs each year to members and guests focused on development, capital markets, infrastructure and sustainability. Our community outreach efforts include pro bono Technical Assistance Panels to cities and towns, volunteering in local classrooms with Urban Plan, and forging partnerships with other organizations and public entities to tackle challenges in our urban built environment.
