According to Nordblom Company, Dyax Corp. will be opening their new corporate headquarters at Network Drive at Northwest Park in January 2012. They have leased 45,000 s/f on the third floor of 55 Network Dr. for ten years.

Senior vice president Peter Bekarian and assistant vice president Bryan Sparkes of Jones Lang LaSalle (JLL) represented Dyax while JLL managing director Tamie Thompson and vice president Tyler Spring represented Nordblom Co. in the transaction. Ogden Hunnewell and Adele Olivier managed the deal from the ownership. Dyax will move from 300 Technology Sq. in Cambridge to create this new corporate headquarters.

"We are excited to have Burlington's first biopharmaceutical company choose Network Drive at Northwest Park as their new corporate headquarters. Burlington offers companies like Dyax a more value-driven option. Dyax also recognized the importance of the many campus and town amenities, as well as the flexibility that the buildings allow to combine office and laboratory use." said Hunnewell, executive vice president and partner of Nordblom Co.
