Trumbull-Nelson Construction promotes Instasi, Ufford, Raymond and Furman

October 06, 2011 - Northern New England

Trumbull-Nelson Construction Co. has promoted Anthony Instasi, Christian Ufford, Dave Raymond and Scott Furman.

Instasi is now manager of Trumbull-Nelson's Utilities Division. After graduating from Vermont Technical College with a degree in Construction Management in 2003, Instasi joined Trumbull-Nelson as an assistant estimator. Before his current promotion to manager of the Utilities Division, Instasi served as project manager for multiple successfully completed utility projects.

Ufford has been promoted to project superintendent, and is heading up work on the Vergennes Waste Water Treatment Facility in Panton, VT. In Ufford's nine years with Trumbull-Nelson, he has had a broad range of experience in various construction related positions within the company.

With over 32 years combined at Trumbull-Nelson, Raymond and Furman have been promoted to the position of construction foreman. Raymond is acting foreman for two projects at Plymouth State University in Plymouth, N.H. Furman has completed building projects for the company this summer and will be foreman for renovation work at Birch Hill in South Woodstock, VT.
