Gillette joins Denenberg Realty Advisors as vice president

November 10, 2011 - Front Section

According to Denenberg Realty Advisors, Robert Gillette has joined the company as vice president. Gillette brings a wide array of real estate skills and experience to Denenberg. He has been in the real estate and construction fields since 1985. Gillette has a diverse background in the real estate, construction, software and medical industries. It has given him great skills at assisting his clients to form concrete business plans and make critical real estate decisions. Gillette has served as a broker and consultant to hundreds of small businesses throughout New England. He has over twenty years of experience building, operating and selling businesses and investment properties.

He personally built ten businesses, including creating a fast food concept that he franchised.

Prior to joining Denenberg, Gillette worked as a construction supervisor and a public insurance adjuster. He facilitated the settlement and subsequent rebuilding of hundreds of property and business interruption losses.

Gillette holds a bachelor of arts degree in Chemistry from Boston University with a minor in Biology. He also took graduate courses in Medicine at the Autonomous University of Guadalajara in Jalisco, Mexico and worked for a short time doing medical research.

His extensive background in real estate and business gives his clients a distinct advantage when making a site selection or choosing a real estate investment. He takes his clients through each and every step in order to ensure a smooth and intelligent lease or purchase.

"With more than 25 years in the industry, Gillette has a proven track record of successfully building and strengthening relationships with his clients," said Neil Denenberg, president. "Gillette is an outstanding addition to our brokerage team, and will play a key role in Denenberg Realty Advisors continued growth."
