Caprioli Painting & CPI Floor honored by NH/VT ABC

November 30, 2011 - Northern New England

Caprioli Painting and CPI Floor Coatings, has been named a recipient of a Community Service Award for Construction Excellence by the New Hampshire/Vermont chapter of Associated Builders & Contractors (ABC).

The award was given for their work at the Brentwood (NH) Fire Station. Caprioli is one of 9 contractors selected by an independent panel of judges as recipients of an ABC Excellence in Construction Award.

The Brentwood Fire Station project came to fruition after 5 years of attempts to get the taxpayers to pass the bond to build a new fire station. Originally the floor coatings for the garage bay and entrance were to be done at minimal costs by a local tradesperson. At the last minute the tradesperson was unable to do the work, and CPI Floor Coatings along with Benjamin Moore donated the material and labor so that the project would be completed within the time frame desired. The award winners were determined through an extensive search process by the judges, based on execution of design, craftsmanship, attention to detail, safety and other considerations.
