GSH Group to provide energy management at Diamond Properties' Stamford Medical Tower

April 26, 2012 - Green Buildings

GSH Group, Inc., a multi-national facilities and energy management provider throughout the United States and Europe, has been awarded a four-year contract to provide energy management services at Diamond Properties' Stamford Medical Tower, located at 1351 Washington Blvd. This is the second energy management contract Diamond Properties has awarded to GSH in the past year.

GSH will make investments at the Stamford Medical Tower to enhance energy efficiency such as upgrading the building automation system, re-commissioning the HVAC equipment, as well as retrofitting the lighting. As part of GSH's energy contract, technicians will perform regular monitoring and adjustments to ensure continued reductions after the projects have been implemented. The company anticipates a reduction of 242 tons of CO2 emissions each year with GSH's energy program.

"We are excited to expand our relationship with GSH," said Jim Diamond, managing member of Diamond Props. "Their energy management services have reduced overall energy consumption at our Mt. Kisco property. So, we are very pleased to have GSH Group provide energy services for the Stamford Medical Tower as well."

Stamford Medical Tower is a 10-story, 223,150 s/f office building. Stamford Medical Tower is adjacent to the Stamford Train Station, the University of Connecticut and I-95. The newly awarded contract is scheduled to commence on May 1st.
