Boston Financial Management volunteer for Heading Homes' "Up and Out" program

June 14, 2012 - Front Section

Volunteers from Boston Financial Management participated in 'Up & Out' move coordinated by employees of Boston Financial Management (BFM) for Heading Home. An 'Up & Out' is Heading Home's signature volunteer program, for which BFM employees helped a local homeless family make the milestone move from a shelter to a permanent home. A non-profit organization, Heading Home's mission is to end homelessness in Greater Boston by providing a supported pathway to self-sufficiency that begins with a home, together with critical services such as life skills, financial literacy, and job training.

Spearheaded by BFM employees Marjon Tondravi and Tanya Kyfor, the firm's staff supplied the apartment with household items and furniture for the kitchen, bathrooms and bedrooms, as well as groceries and a stocked pantry.
