Church joins Residential Properties as broker associate

August 09, 2012 - Rhode Island

After years as director of sales in the development of luxury residential projects throughout the Providence and East Bay areas of Rhode Island, Residential Properties Ltd. welcomes Meredyth Church to the East Side of Providence office as a broker associate. She will focus on the sales of properties in and around the city and in nearby Massachusetts.

Church was most recently director of sales at The Residence's Providence, and previously led the sales teams at Bagy Wrinkle Cove in Warren, Weetamoe in Bristol, and Oakland Farm in Portsmouth, as well as the introduction of the luxury condo projects at 101 North Main St., 77 South Angell St., and 2 Thomas St.

"Meredyth brings a wealth of sales knowledge to our East Side office," said RPL Providence manager, Ed Hardie. "We have worked with her brokering deals on these high end properties, admiring her professionalism and keen understanding of the market. Her addition to this 45 agent strong office will augment our continued effort to be the best agency on the East Side."
