Naugatuck Savings Bank is branching out into Wallingford at 665 North Colony Road

October 18, 2012 - Connecticut

Naugatuck Savings Bank is scheduled to open their 19th branch in Wallingford in the fourth quarter at 665 North Colony Rd. The new branch is a testament to their continuing commitment to the communities throughout this region of Connecticut, having opened new branches in Hamden, Meriden and Waterbury within the past couple of years.

"Opening the new location in Wallingford supports our goal of delivering outstanding service to our customers, now and into the future" said Charles Boulier III, president of Naugatuck Savings Bank.

"Being a community bank, we believe in building lifetime relationships by partnering with consumers and businesses of all sizes. We are very excited about strengthening relationships and developing new ones with the residents and businesses in Wallingford and the surrounding area."

The new branch will feature a customer-oriented design including a computer café and investment center, created to enhance a customer's banking experience.

"We provide the products and services to help our customers achieve their financial goals and provide a secure financial future for their families. We offer a full line of financial products, from mortgages to business lines of credit to insurance to wealth management services," said Boulier.

"But most importantly, at Naugatuck Savings Bank our philosophy is Experience the Difference. It's our commitment to give friendly and personalized service to every customer, every day. Our new Wallingford location will be staffed with employees who are committed to our customer centric philosophy and high service standards. Look for our grand opening in Wallingford later this year and stop by to say hello."
