Exterior Designs to perform exterior cladding at the PSNH

November 01, 2012 - Northern New England

Exterior Designs was hired by North Branch Construction to perform the exterior cladding at the PSNH.

The project included exterior metal stud framing, sheathing and the installation of building Omega lite ACM panels all performed while the building remained fully operational.

Now that the project is complete the building has a new updated look that will serve PSNH well for many years to come.

Exterior Designs is based in Manchester, and specializes in exterior cladding for commercial buildings throughout New England.
