Beals + Thomas adds new office at Intelligent Office

January 24, 2013 - Front Section

Intelligent Office, the region's fastest growing virtual, and professionally staffed office space for mobile executives, small businesses, professional services firms, and independent contractors, has added Beals + Thomas as a new tenant. Beals + Thomas is a multidisciplinary firm that provides engineering, design, planning, environmental and surveying services to support the development and conservation of land and water resources.

Beals + Thomas has offices in Southborough and Plymouth and now in the city where they have a satellite office within Intelligent Office. The services provided by Intelligent Office have enabled Beals + Thomas, a 35 person firm, to have a presence in the Financial District to better service their clients.

"Beals + Thomas has experienced significant growth from downtown Boston clientele. To accommodate our new client base, we decided to establish a permanent as-needed office in downtown Boston" said executive vice president Richard Kosian. "With Intelligent Office, we have affordable, convenient on-demand office resources available to our personnel when serving our downtown clients."

"We are excited to have such a unique blend of clients in our office. We are happy to facilitate the growth of Beals + Thomas in the downtown Boston area as they expand their clientele in the region" said Wes Walker, president of Intelligent Office.

Beals + Thomas has been providing civil engineering and other professional services for several on-going and recently completed construction projects within the area including NorthPoint in Cambridge, Boston and Somerville; One North of Boston in Chelsea; Arlington 360 in Arlington; and Alta at the Estate in Watertown.

Beals + Thomas is located within Intelligent Office at 265 Franklin St. in the city's Financial District.
