NAIOP to hold young prof.'s lunch March 13th - Raymond will speak

March 06, 2008 - Front Section

NAIOP's Developing Leaders presents the second in their lunchtime speaker series, featuring a case study of Westwood Station, a complex project. Come learn more about this smart growth, transit-oriented development and its lessons for other projects, all while networking with other young professionals, ages 35 and younger, in a fun, informal lunch setting on Thursday, March 13th.

Presenting the overview will be Jed Raymond, project manager for Cabot Cabot & Forbes of New England, which is developing Westwood Station. Before joining Cabot Cabot & Forbes, Jed Raymond worked for Raymond Property Co. as a project manager at Turner Hill, a 360-acre golf course, hotel, and a residential development in Ipswich, Mass. Jed graduated with an MA in Real Estate Dev. and Design Studies from the Harvard Graduate School of Design and with a BA of Arts and Sciences from Middlebury College. Jed is a board member at the First National Bank and the Boston Preservation Alliance, a board chairman of the Charlestown Lacrosse and Learning Center, and a member of ULI Young Leaders, BAYREP, and NAIOP.

Registration and networking will begin at 11:30 a.m., the program will run from 12 - 1 p.m. Cost is $25. per NAIOP member or employee of a NAIOP firm, $35 per non-member; registration is limited to those 35 years or younger. The program will be held at Brown & Rudnick, One Financial Center, in Boston.
