ReJournal.com and Amazon.com are teaming to bring you online store

March 13, 2008 - Front Section

ReJournal.com has teamed up with Amazon.com, the online retailer, to bring you a new online store featuring the best commercial real estate related products available anywhere on the web. We have developed a user friendly storefront with easily accessible product categories to make your shopping experience fast and efficient.

We have worked closely with Amazon.com to create a product line of the best selling, most relevant commercial real estate related products available and have placed them in the following categories: books & magazines, office products & supplies, office furniture and miscellaneous. We have put convenient links to each category at the top of the storefront so you can go directly to your category of choice to browse through it or you can scroll down through all the categories if you like.

To get to the online store click on the "rejournal store" banner (see inset) that is on the left side of the New England, New York and New Jersey-Pennsylvania homepages or you can type the following link into your web browser: <http://www.rejournal.com/store/store.aspx>, alternatively you can use the drop down menu at the top of every page of our website (except the portal page), just hover your mouse pointer over the "Subscriptions" tab then click on the "Store" link in the menu that drops down.

For any other questions, comments, ideas or suggestions email me: dscott@rejournal.com or call: (781) 878-4540 x286 or (800) 654-4993 (outside Mass.) Mon. - Fri. 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
