Cutler earns citation for Mount Holyoke project

September 18, 2007 - Construction Design & Engineering

American School & University magazine awarded Cutler Design, the in-house architectural team at Cutler Associates, a citation for Outstanding Design for its recent residence hall renovation project at Mount Holyoke College.

Cutler offered a single-source, design-build solution to renovate the century-old Mead Hall student housing complex. The 42,000 s/f project reconfigured underutilized spaces to create new common areas, add student beds, address accessibility concerns, and restore the facility to its original historic grandeur. The team was able to implement the award-winning design while also meeting the college's goals for schedule and budget.
