Jewett Metal Buildings & Steel Erectors (JMB), a growing division of Jewett Construction Co., Inc., recently added field personnel to its growing staff. New metal buildings employees include Leonard Sherwood, Donald Chevalier, Jr., and Jeremy Klar. Both Klar and Rick Preston, another recent addition to the JMB staff, have just completed their OSHA 10-Hour Safety training and received certification.

In addition, JMB project superintendent, Phil Kennedy, recently received both his OSHA 30-Hour Safety Certificate and Crane Signal Person Certification, as well as instruction in training fork lift operators.

JMB-a member of the Metal Building Contractors and Erectors Association, Steel Fabricators of New England, and the Steel Erectors Association of America-provides professional, pre-engineered metal building sales, installation and consulting, erects structural steel, and provides welding and miscellaneous metals work to clients.
