Cammarata joins Timberline Construction

October 17, 2013 - Construction Design & Engineering

Aurora Cammarata recently joined Timberline Construction Corp. Her role at the company encompasses developing new client relationships and project opportunities with a mission to create and maintain positive long-term business relationships. As a member of the senior management team, Cammarata is also influential in the implementation of the company's overall business strategies as well as its business development, marketing and communications initiatives. Her authentic talent, positive attitude, and passion for the A/E/C industry and the clients she serves have earned her a positive reputation as an exceptional communicator, collaborator and attentive service provider. Her valuable experience within both design and construction firms will help Timberline continue to grow its team and northeast portfolio.

Most recently, Cammarata was the director of business development at Spagnolo Gisness & Associates, Inc.

She first began her career as a marketing coordinator at Vanderweil Engineers. Today, she is known as an experienced business development and marketing executive in the New England market with more than 20 years experience working for other recognized A/E/C firms like Tishman Construction, Payton Construction, HNTB and RF Walsh Co. She is a requested guest speaker at industry organizations and conferences including SMPS, AGC of Massachusetts and Build Boston. Cammarata is on the board of directors for CoreNet Global New England Chapter as well as Massachusetts Citizens for Children (MassKids). She is also a past president of the SMPS Boston Chapter and a recipient of their Marketing Executive of the Year Award. She attended Stonehill College in North Easton, Mass. and Fairfield University in Fairfield, Conn.
