November 14, 2013 - Connecticut

Halloran & Sage LLP, a full service law firm with six offices across Conn., will be offering a seminar at different locations on the topic of Connecticut banking litigation focusing on foreclosure and lender liability in the coming months.

Halloran & Sage attorneys Brian Rich, Peter Meggers and Melanie Dykas will be the featured presenters. The seminar, tailored to banking and finance professionals, will provide an overview of how a foreclosure works (and sometimes doesn't) in Conn., where the laws may be heading, and what is involved in handling foreclosure litigation. The seminar will also address the various defenses and counterclaims often asserted in foreclosure actions, as well as lender liability claims more generally.

The seminar will be held January 14 in New Haven and January 16 in Stamford.
