Johnson joins Maugel Architects as director of architecture

February 20, 2014 - Construction Design & Engineering

Eric Johnson has joined Maugel Architects as director of architecture. Johnson brings over 25 years of experience in architectural project management, design and construction.

Prior to joining Maugel, Johnson's most recent work included the Mandarin Oriental Boston Hotel, Lord & Taylor Boston, the College of the Holy Cross, Curry College and Longmeadow High School.

Johnson will focus on the expansion of Maugel's institutional and life sciences portfolio.

"With the increase in diversity and complexity of Maugel's portfolio, we recognized the need for an additional senior-level architect," said Brent Maugel, president.
