North Branch Construction, Inc. continues construction at Interventional Spine Medicine office

April 03, 2014 - Front Section

North Branch Construction, Inc. of Concord continues construction of the future Interventional Spine Medicine office. This project involves the renovation of a 3,300 s/f home built in 1920. Plans include a 1,400 s/f addition to the back of the house and all new HVAC and electrical systems, as well as a new elevator. The addition is now weather-tight and finishes have begun.

This design/build project is expected to be completed in June, with design by Dennis Mires P.A., The Architects of Manchester.

The new medical building will have a procedure room with x-ray machine in addition to a recovery room. The existing building is showing signs of its age, and North Branch is excited to restore the beauty of this house.
