Eby joins WorldTech

December 18, 2014 - Construction Design & Engineering

Eric Eby, P.E. has joined WorldTech as senior project manager. Eby brings over 20 years of expertise in traffic and transportation engineering to his position. Most recently, he worked as the director of transportation for the Department of Planning and Development for the City of Lowell. Prior to that he lead a team of transportation professionals at a major transportation engineering firm. Committed to his profession and his community, Eby also serves as the chairman of the Parking and Traffic Commission for the City of Amesbury.

Eby will be responsible for the direction, oversight, guidance, and mentoring of technical staff and for managing project deliverables, budgets, and business development.

He will also oversee individual projects.

His expertise in traffic impact studies, environmental impact reports, geometric intersection design, parking demand and site studies, TDM measures development, mitigation plans, traffic peer reviews for municipalities and his leadership and team building ability make him an excellent addition to our team. His extensive knowledge of state and local regulations, his established partnerships with state agencies and local municipalities, and his vast traffic-related experience will allow him to make an immediate impact for our clients.

President Rich Benevento said, "In today's world of ever increasing competition, complexity, and specialties, adding Eric to our team further enhances our ability to provide comprehensive, cost effective, and innovative solutions of the highest quality for our clients and is consistent with our goal of always exceeding our client's needs and expectations."
