JM Coull receives two ENR awards for E Ink Innovation Center

April 16, 2015 - Construction Design & Engineering

JM Coull recently earned two awards from Engineering News-Record for its E Ink Innovation Center project: the 2014 New England Regional Best Project Award of Merit (renovation/restoration category) and the Best Safety Project. The firm also received an Excellence in Construction Eagle Award from the Associated Builders and Contractors for the project in late 2014.

JMC renovated and consolidated two existing buildings into one 140,000 s/f facility comprising 70,000 s/f of labs, cleanrooms, and MEP support space, as well as 70,000 s/f of office and administrative space. The facility, located in Billerica, is the U.S. headquarters for E Ink Corp. a leader in electronic display technology.
