The Boston Preservation Alliance names 2015 Preservation Achievement Awards recipients; ceremony to be held Oct. 27 at Cutler Majestic Theatre

August 20, 2015 - Construction Design & Engineering

The Boston Preservation Alliance has selected 10 projects that demonstrate the top contributions to preservation and the character of Boston's built environment in recent years. Representing a diverse range of project types and scopes, the honorees are:

- * Alan and Sherry Leventhal Center - Boston University
- * Alvah Kittredge House - Roxbury
- * The Arlington - Back Bay
- * Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston, Mattapan Teen Center - Mattapan
- * Brigham Patient Parking Garage, Stoneman Centennial Park - Longwood Medical Area
- * Childe Hassam Park - South End
- * Hong Lok Project - Chinatown
- * MIT Alpha Theta Chapter of Sigma Chi Fraternity Residences - Back Bay
- * The Parish of All Saints - Ashmont
- * Restoration of Lion and Unicorn Statues - Old State House
- * Codman Award for Lifetime Achievement - Henry Moss
- * and President's Award for Excellence - Jon Davis

The Boston Preservation Alliance is honored to recognize the efforts of the teams behind these projects at the Preservation Achievement Awards ceremony and reception, which will be held on October 27 at the Cutler Majestic Theatre on 219 Tremont St.

On that evening, the Boston Preservation Alliance will also honor two individuals for their dedication to the enhancement and preservation of Boston's built environment. The Codman Award for Lifetime Achievement will be presented to Henry Moss of Bruner/Cott Architects and Planners, for his notable accomplishments in the historic preservation field over the past four decades, including contributions to large-scale adaptive reuse projects such as MASS MoCA, the Watertown Arsenal, Channel Center in the South End, the Waltham Watch Factory, and numerous university buildings in New England.

Accepting the President's Award for Excellence will be Jonathan Davis of The Davis Cos., in recognition of his contributions to Boston's built environment through thoughtful investment and development. The large portfolio of The Davis Cos. includes a diversity of building types, yet projects embracing historic buildings and their character have always been an integral and passionate part of Davis' work. Past projects such the Exeter Street Theatre and the St. Cloud Hotel demonstrate Jon's ability to adapt historic buildings to meet the modern demands of a thriving community - finding a balance that allows buildings to evolve while preserving their unique contributions to the city's character.

The Boston Preservation Alliance is offering the opportunity to take part in its selection process by voting for your favorite project of the 2015 award winners! The Fan Favorite Award will be announced on the night of the ceremony.
