Wilbur promoted at Green Leaf Construction

August 20, 2015 - Construction Design & Engineering

Green Leaf Construction promoted Jesse Wilbur to project manager with the firm. Previously a site superintendent.

"Jesse has been progressively taking on dual project management and supervisory responsibilities on the last two projects he has worked on," said chief operating officer, Tom Dube. "It is great to see the individual growth in our people that cumulatively advance the goals of our firm. Jesse's promotion is a great example of that individual and corporate growth."

Wilbur is also an OSHA-Authorized Construction Trainer and will continue to provide oversight of the company's safety policies.
