O&G Industries awarded contract for 6,500 s/f renovation project

August 20, 2015 - Connecticut

O&G Industries was awarded a contract to transform the old gristmill into the new admissions building for Farmington's Miss Porters School.

The property, home to the former Grist Mill Restaurant on Mill St., will be renovated and fit-out as the school's new admissions building. All new electrical, HVAC and finishes will be installed as a part of the 6,500 s/f renovation project.

"We are very excited to be working with the team at Miss Porters and the opportunity to work on a campus with such a rich history," said O&G project manager Christina Rossi.

Work on the project began in June and will continue through June of 2016. Drummey Rosane Anderson (DRA) is the project architect. O&G is the construction manager.
