May 27, 2008 - Front Section

BOMA Boston recently hosted its annual spring market update and networking event on May 8th. This year's event was held at King's Bowling and Billiards in Boston's Back Bay. Highlighting the event were two distinguished industry speakers. Suzanne Mulvee from Property & Portfolio Research discussed the state of the economy and the local market conditions in real estate. She was followed by chief of staff at the Boston Redevelopment Authority, Jim Tierney, who gave an overview of the Boston development pipeline.

After the market update, BOMA members enjoyed strikes, spares and spirits at King's.
