IRC Industrial Roofing Co. honored with Carlisle SynTec's ESP Award

June 05, 2008 - Northern New England

IRC Industrial Roofing Co., a leading commercial roofing contractor that specializes in single-ply roofing, recently received Carlisle SynTec's prestigious ESP (Excellence in Single-Ply) Award, one of the most recognized awards in the roofing industry.

Carlisle's ESP awards are presented to Carlisle-authorized applicators that exceed Carlisle standards for customer service, timely deliveries and quality applications. IRC Industrial Roofing's achievement in receiving this award proves its commitment to providing quality products and superior craftsmanship.

"This is a significant accomplishment for IRC Industrial Roofing," said Nick Shears, Carlisle vice president of sales & marketing. "We are proud to honor them with this award, and look forward to a continued, successful partnership with Industrial Roofing."

With the ESP distinction, IRC Industrial Roofing can offer unmatched Carlisle warranties for up to 30 years.

As a full-service roofing contractor, IRC Industrial Roofing continues to lead the industry by providing premium products and superior services for commercial and industrial roofing applications.

Carlisle SynTec, headquartered in Carlisle, Penn., has been investing in single-ply membrane roofing systems for more than 45 years. Carlisle is a business segment of Carlisle Construction Materials.
