Shepley Bulfinch promotes Chambers and Westrick

February 17, 2017 - Construction Design & Engineering

Boston, MA Jim Chambers and Katie Westrick, EDAC, LEED AP, have been promoted to directors at Shepley Bulfinch.

Jim Chambers, Shepley Bulfinch

“Katie and Jim’s talents and their specialized skills have contributed to the success of Shepley Bulfinch. We have full confidence that they will excel in their leadership roles, and build on Shepley Bulfinch’s mission to use design to better the human experience,” said Carole Wedge, FAIA, LEED AP, president at Shepley Bulfinch.

“In addition to their highly advanced architectural skills, Jim and Katie bring constructively critical perspectives, and innovative ideas that will advance the firm’s growth.”

Jim Chambers Since joining Shepley Bulfinch in 2007, Jim has worked as a project manager responsible for large scale project and team management. Possessing an excellent ability to focus on understanding the needs of complex projects allows Jim to meet or exceed these demands while working with owners, contractors and designers. Current projects include the City of Austin’s New Central Library and the Boston Children’s Hospital expansion. Jim holds a Bachelor of Architecture from Carnegie Mellon University.

Katie Westrick, Shepley Bulfinch

Katie Westrick, EDAC, LEED AP Katie is a member of Shepley Bulfinch’s healthcare design practice, with experience in the planning, design and delivery of inpatient and ambulatory facilities on a range of scales. She excels at applying her knowledge of evidence-based design and Building Information Modeling (BIM) to advance the quality of healthcare design and delivery. Katie joined Shepley Bulfinch in 2011, and her healthcare design work includes projects for Yale New Haven Health System, the Mayo Clinic, and Banner Health. In addition to holding a Bachelor of Science in Architecture from the University of Michigan, Katie is LEED 2.1 AP accredited and has achieved Evidence-Based Design Accreditation and Certification (EDAC) from the Center for Health Design.
