Fabreeka International awarded ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System Certification

August 05, 2016 - Owners Developers & Managers

Boston, MA Fabreeka International has achieved ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System Certification at their Stoughton, Mass. facility from globally recognized registrar TÜV SÜD America. The ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System provides a framework for implementation, maintenance, and continual improvement of internationally instituted quality best practices within Fabreeka's organization.

"Obtaining our ISO 9001:2015 certification supports and strengthens our commitment to continually improve upon the delivery of services to our customers, exceed customer requirements and expectations, and build Fabreeka's relationship with clients across all sectors of our business." said David Meyer, general manager.

Fabreeka is a market leader in vibration and shock control which has been providing customized engineering services and products to various markets for nearly 100 years. They manufacture quality American made products for a variety of markets, including building and construction, industrial equipment and heavy industry.

TÜV SÜD is a global technical service organization active across a wide range of industry sectors such as real estate, rail, automotive, consumer and industrial products, medical device and training.
