2017 Annual Review: Todd Tremblay of Horvath & Tremblay

December 29, 2017 - Front Section

What are your predictions for commercial real estate in 2018? We anticipate the market will remain stable in 2018 with transactional velocity flat or potentially having a slight decrease from 2017. As the market continues to shift, brokerage intermediaries will be more valuable managing the spread between buyer/seller expectations.
