2017 Annual Review: Jonathan Miller of LBC Boston

December 29, 2017 - Front Section

What was your most notable project, deal, or transaction in 2017? In 2017, LBC Boston began work at 1500 Hancock St. in Quincy on the Nova Residences, a cornerstone project for the city's downtown redevelopment plan. The 153,000 s/f mixed-used development provides continuity to this commercial corridor, as well as connectivity to other development parcels and a parking garage all meant to coalesce as part of the Hancock Lot redevelopment master plan. The project includes 15,000 s/f of retail and restaurant space supporting 171 apartments above. A large glass atrium and circulation space will connect the apartment building, Hancock St. and the future public space and parking garage.
