Member news: ASM congratulates The Marr Companies on 120 years of success!

January 19, 2018 - Construction Design & Engineering

Boston, MA In 1898, Daniel Marr arrived in America with his son John Marr ready to make a home for themselves and start a new venture. They established Daniel Marr & Son, a steel erection and rigging firm delivering services to important projects throughout the city.

Watch a video history of Marr Cos. at <http://marrcompanies.com/history/> Now they employ an average of 300 people, and credit the “family culture” of their business as a key contributor to their long-term success. That along with their ability to innovate and stay ahead of industry trends through training and state-of the art equipment. Congratulations to the entire Marr Company “family” and cheers to another 120 years!
