

CELEBRATING
55 YEARS

nerej

Sullivan joins MPA as senior interior designer

April 20, 2018 - Construction Design & Engineering

Jane Sullivan

Margulies Perruzzi Architects

Boston, MA According to Margulies Perruzzi Architects (MPA), Jane Sullivan, LEED AP, NCIDQ, has rejoined MPA as a senior interior designer. Previously employed at MPA for 14 years before leaving the firm for two years, Sullivan will continue to work on key interior design and workplace strategy projects and assist with business development for MPA's corporate and professional services studios.

Sullivan brings more than 28 years of experience in interior design and project management, designing productive and inspiring workplaces that help companies attract and retain talent. She has led the design direction for a variety of project types and clients, including corporate office buildings, commercial interior fit-outs, and medical office buildings. As a senior interior designer, she will provide project team leadership on the design of high performing workspaces that support business objectives, inspire creativity, and enhance mission engagement.

"Jane has contributed to some of MPA's most innovative workplace design projects over many years, and we join our clients in their excitement to welcome her back to MPA," said Dan Perruzzi, AIA, LEED AP, principal and senior partner at Margulies Perruzzi Architects. "She brings a depth of design experience and understanding of workplace strategy that help clients utilize their workplace as a tool to become more successful. We are thrilled to collaborate with her once again on our clients' dynamic workplace projects."

Sullivan's notable interior design projects at MPA include the LEED Gold-certified global headquarters for Boston Scientific Corp. in Marlborough, Mass., the LEED Platinum-certified North American headquarters for Cimpres/Vistaprint in Waltham, Mass., and the LEED Gold-certified global headquarters for Iron Mountain in Boston. A LEED accredited professional (LEED AP) and NCIDQ certified, she received a Bachelor of Architecture from the Boston Architectural Center. Sullivan is also a member of the International Interior Design Association (IIDA) Boston Chapter, CoreNet Global New England, NAIOP Massachusetts, and the Executive Woman's Golf Association.

